

CAMPUS NOTES

M. I. Hurley, a graduate of the College of Agriculture of the University and who is connected with the extension division of the University, arrived in Columbia Saturday to remain a few days. Mr. Hurley is located in Bates County, his work there being in connection with the plan for the extermination of hog cholera.

M. H. Shearer, student in the College of Agriculture of the University spent the week-end in Moberly. Harold Cave also visited relatives and friends at that place.

Miss Frances M. Sanford, a student in the University, is ill at her home, 501 Conley street.

Miss Margaret Middlecott, a student in the University, is ill with pneumonia in the Parker Memorial Hospital.

P. M. Hitchcock, a freshman in the College of Arts and Science of the University was called to his home at Independence, Mo., Saturday, by the serious illness of his grandmother.

Miss Nora Jamison of Read Hall had her father and mother as guests for the week-end. Mr. Jamison is architect for the new University buildings.

Increased interest in the Farmers' Debating Club has caused the club to change its time of meeting from twice a month to every Monday night. Debates of interest to farmers are held and agricultural topics are discussed.

Charles H. Williams, secretary of the University Extension Division, is in Macon, Mo., on business.

Fred A. Price of Lawrence, Kans., is at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house for a few days. Mr. Price is a member of the grand chapter of that fraternity.

Miss Althea Miller, a student in the University, was called to her home at Graham, Mo., yesterday by the illness of her mother. She will not return this semester.

Glenn A. Alley, a freshman in the College of Arts and Science, has gone to his home at Mercer, Mo., to attend his sister's wedding.

M. J. Quinn, president of the Benton Hall roomers, has appointed the following committees, for the second semester: Janitor, J. W. Anthony; library, Fred Keller; finance, Owen Richards; telephone, Paul Titterton; electrical, V. G. Cox; mail, H. G. Swartwout; breakage, Frank Yoder; directory, L. H. Luttan; water and heat, G. E. Luke.

Dr. Walter Miller will speak at the Y. W. C. A. meeting next week.

The students in the College of Agriculture will give their annual spring dance at Columbia Hall March 12.

The Regimental Athletic Association will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Building tonight to discuss plans for future events of the association.

A. H. Anderson, who was graduated from the College of Agriculture last semester, has returned to the University to do thesis work.

L. A. Weaver, assistant professor of animal husbandry, returned last night from New Bloomfield, Mo., where he attended Shelly and Chatterbuck's sale of pure-bred Duroc-Jersey hogs.

E. W. Headly, a junior in the College of Agriculture, spent Monday and Tuesday in Jefferson City. He attended the Washington's Birthday ball at the Governor's mansion.

J. W. Burch and E. S. Matteson, students in the College of Agriculture, went to Centralia today to attend a sale of Duroc-Jersey hogs.

C. V. Singleton, a graduate student in the College of Agriculture, returned Tuesday from his home at Leonard, Mo., where he had been visiting since Saturday.

Cyrus T. Helm, a member of the Varsity baseball team in 1912 and 1913, is now attending Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge, La. He holds the position of assistant in instruction in sugar refining, having received the degree of Ch. E. this last semester.

Albert J. Strathman, a sophomore in the College of Agriculture left Thursday for Norborne, Mo. From there he will go to Santa Barbara, Cal., where he will remain until the University opens next September.

EUROPEAN WAR PICTURES HERE

New York's Sun's Production Will Be Show Here Tonight.

The state rights to the New York Sun's motion pictures of the European war have been bought by three members of the editorial staff of the Kansas City Star. These pictures, in five reels, are booked for tonight at the Star Theater in Columbia.

T. E. Crozier, of the staff of copy editors of the Star, a field manager for the films.

The pictures include actual scenes of battle, together with Zeppelins, 42-caliber guns in action and armoured trains. Irwin S. Cobb uses a reel of these same films in his lectures. The house record of attendance at the Willis Wood Theater in Kansas City was broken by the week these films were shown there.

INSPECT ACCREDITED SCHOOLS

Committee of Three M. U. Faculty Men Went to St. Louis.

Dean J. C. Jones, Prof. Herman Schlundt and Prof. N. M. Trenholme inspected schools in St. Louis last week. They returned by way of St. Charles and Mexico, Mo., inspecting the colleges at those places.

On The Paper Route

"Hello, dog," says the Missourian carrier to a pup who adopted him about half-way on the route. "You want to help me carry the papers? Well, take this one to that white house." The cur's tail wags briskly as he takes the paper in his mouth and runs home with it.

The dog's tail is very useful to the carrier. It is an indicator of canine moods, and in this capacity occasionally enables the carrier to avoid chewed trousers and crumpled papers. Shep, a big Scotch collie, invariably wags a friendship signal when the carrier approaches, and as a reward is allowed to carry the paper to his master's back door. But his neighbor in the next block, a crooked little dog about the size of a sprightly kitten, always defends the front walk as if a foreign army were about to invade his neutral soil.

The carrier proceeds, whistling. "Good evening, Mr. Blank." The paper goes through the little window of the office. Mr. Blank cheerfully "Good mornin'" to you this evenin'."

Another gray-haired old man invariably says, "Thank you sir," when the carrier puts the paper on his desk.

"Ha-ey thar, kid! Wat paper ye got?...O, I thought it was the Star."

"Sa-ay, you with the papers. Can't you remember to put the paper on the porch and not pass me by so often?"

The carrier replies, suspiciously, "How many fellows room at your house? And how many of them take this paper?"

The door is slammed shut.

Some of the subscribers grumble when the paper does not arrive till late. Some say, "Never mind, it doesn't matter." Others telephone to the circulation manager and indignantly inquire, "Why hasn't my paper been delivered?"

The Missourian carriers get their papers in rotation. If number one gets his papers first tonight he will get them last tomorrow night, and every ninth time he will be first. Each route takes about an hour, from the time the carrier leaves the office till the last paper is delivered.

Sometimes important news develops at the last moment, delaying the paper. Then the carriers must loaf around the shop, waiting for their papers. They experiment with jujutsu, teach each other new ways of folding or rolling papers, and tell stories of the peculiarities of their subscribers, and the incidents encountered on their routes.
